Pre-K News

Choice time at Pre-K is pretty much what it sounds like, with children choosing from activities and centers set up intentionally by teachers. During a typical choice time a child may move from painting at an easel to dressing up in dramatic play to writing in a science notebook. Here some children are trying out binoculars at the birdwatching station while three students delight over their building work and two others figure out the train track on the train table. Pre-K is a busy place!

4th Grade News

The fourth grade students have been studying the changeable nature of Earth's surface. In order to better understand the layers of the Earth and how earthquakes might occur, the students dissected hard boiled eggs. The layers of the eggs represented the crust, mantle, and core of the earth. Students were able to see how the tectonic plates could jiggle and move against one another, creating earthquakes.

Buddy Activity

All HES students got outside in the sunshine on Thursday morning for a Buddy Activity. Ms. Gluck, our librarian, set up a “story walk” through the nature trail. Big buddies helped the little buddies read Patricia Polacco’s “The Bee Tree.” It was lovely to get out and enjoy the Spring weather together.
